WE NOMINATE

John Robert Stiegman, a resident of Princeton and its environs for the past decade, who over the weekend was catapulted from the relative obscurity of an assistant coach's position into the limelight that is the due of a head coach of college football in this sports-conscious nation. The announcement Saturday afternoon of Stiegman's appointment as head coach at Rutgers University, which 87 years ago challenged Princeton to a game and thereby set the stage for the phenomenal rise of intercollegiate football, was not only a remarkable tribute to a 33-year old coach—and to an arch athletic rival—but was also one of New Jersey's best-kept "sports secrets" of recent years.

In succeeding Harvey J. Harman, a former president of the American Football Coaches' Association and still a professor with tenure on the Rutgers Faculty, Stiegman becomes the youngest head coach in the history of the State University and assumes responsibility for guiding the Scarlet down a "football path" presumably leading to closer and closer ties with the Ivy League. His inaugural press conference, at which Rutgers revealed that there had been nearly 100 applicants for Harman's post, provided a number of happy omens for the future. He neatly parried queries about the Princeton-Rutgers rivalry, answered pertinent questions with a minimum of verbiage and avoided over-optimism as well as the unreasonable pessimism that coaches too frequently toss up as a protective "Iron Curtain."

It was not quite ten years ago that Stiegman, a native of Buffalo, N. Y., and one of the most versatile athletes ever to represent Williams College, launched his coaching career. During World War II, while bouncing around the Atlantic and the Pacific on naval landing-craft, he thought ahead to peacetime and corresponded with his former Williams coach, Princeton's Charles W. Caldwell Jr. In the fall of 1946, shortly after he had returned to civilian life, he reported to Caldwell as an assistant freshman coach and three years later "jumped" to the varsity staff where he was to earn a reputation as a prodigious worker, an excellent football diagnostician and a "hound for details."

Stiegman, whom Caldwell describes as a "coming leader in the profession," has also proved his ability in two sports far removed from football—hockey and rowing. Under his direction Princeton's freshman hockey teams have won more than 70% of their games and in two springs as head coach of 150-pound rowing, a sport in which he says "you punish yourself instead of the other fellow," he drove his oarsmen to 21 out of a possible 25 victories. Of the many honors he has gained in five different sports, Stiegman remembers most vividly the afternoon in 1942 when a Caldwell-drilled Williams eleven, led by a 210-pound tackle named Stiegman, walloped Princeton, 19-7, for Williams' first and only conquest of the Tiger.

For inspiring the kind of confidence that prompted Rutgers' president, Lewis W. Jones, following an interview with Stiegman, to tell the selection committee that "you'll have to measure all of your remaining candidates by him;" for meriting a position of leadership in the field of intercollegiate athletics; for his determination to spare nothing—least of all himself—in his efforts to do the best possible job; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for Onward and Upward. A housing development that will double the population in the area for which it is being designed received tentative approval Tuesday night from the South Brunswick Planning Board. To grow across a 250-acre tract along the Lincoln Highway between Kingston and New Brunswick, the project is being blueprinted in terms of 500 homes.

The Kendall Construction Company (headed by Herbert J. Kendall of 245 Elm Road) has been given the green light on the large-scale development, following a two-and-a-half hour, heavily-attended session of the municipality's Planning Board. Final detailed plans will be required of Mr. Kendall, with their completion expected in six to eight weeks.

Construction on the homes is scheduled to start by mid-June, with occupancy by November. They will be designed to sell in the $15,000 price range, Mr. Kendall said this week.

Planning Board approval is based on the belief that presence of the homes in the area will help attract new industry, some of it already in the building stage in this section of Middlesex County. (For the reaction of Ridge Road residents to such a move, see below.)

To help meet the demands that the population influx will place on the area, the Kendall Construction Company will underwrite the cost of eight new school

Will an eight-foot thick plastic dome over their new stadium not only allow the Brooklyn Dodgers to play baseball in all kinds of weather but support a tramway which will carry sightseers over the top of the fabulous stadium? For a picture-story of the fascinating project being evolved right here in Princeton, see this week's sport section (pages 18-22.)

The 20-year popularity record of the Triangle Club's most famous song is the subject of another feature article (page 12), while the all-inclusive church news (pages 24-25) includes a Princetonian's efficiency rating of the Catholic Church. Once again, the area's steady growth is reflected in reports of proposed building activity and of two of its leading financial institutions (see "Topics of the Town.")

"Sensible Rezoning" Sought. More than a score of property owners, most of whom live on Ridge Road between Kingston and Monmouth Junction, have formed an association gauged to protect their residential interests in South Brunswick Township. Their primary purpose is to have a voice in guiding rezoning of the municipality for industrial use, with an eye to blocking industries which will consume large quantities of water.

Harold F. Koones of Ridge Road has been named temporary chairman of the group, with Mrs. J. B. Gaylord of the same address serving as secretary-treasurer. Theodore D. Vreeland of Princeton has been retained to serve as the association's attorney.

Known formally as the South Brunswick Resident Owners Protective Association, members of the group will meet for the second time this month Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord, R. J. Flood of Ridge Road, business management consultant with offices in New York, said this week that the association has support not only in Monmouth Junction but from residents of Kingston, Princeton and Dayton.

"We are primarily interested in barring the path to South Brunswick of industries which will create a heavy water consumption," Mr. Flood declared. "Many of us have wells that supply 40 gallons a minute, and what we want to block before it occurs is the intrusion of industrial plants that may try to draw off 4,000 gallons a minute from the relatively limited resources."

The new association (which has already been supported by some members with dues for a five-year period) is not by any means wholly against rezoning for industrial purposes, Mr. Flood reported. Its members would welcome increased rateables of certain types — for example, along the lines of warehousing, distribution facilities, assembly plants, and similar ventures. Their aim is, however, to restrain any wholesale "invitation" by the municipality's planning board to industry to move into the area on an unrestricted basis.

F. J. Harbaugh, James Shupe, Earl Renk, F. F. Petrone and G. J. Spahr. The association has between 25 and 30 members, with others expected to join in the weeks ahead.

Avalon Report Confirmed. Purchase of Avalon, the Community Players' Bayard Lane home, was considered by the YMCA's board of directors Tuesday night but no decision was reached.

As indicated here last week, both organizations are not far from agreement on sale of the historic former Van Dyke residence to the "Y." It is understood that half a dozen residents of the Princeton community have raised a sum adequate to make the transaction possible. The probability exists that a special meeting of the YMCA directors will be held in the next fortnight to accelerate negotiations.

Subdivision Plans Readied. Sketches outlining a proposed, 18-home subdivision at the northeast corner of Harrison Street and Hamilton Avenue were offered to the Borough Planning Board this week, and drawings proposing a similar, 18-home subdivision at 390-400 Nassau Street were expected any day. Both new developments will be considered by the board at its next regular meeting the night of February 6.

If granted approval, the 250,000-square-foot Nassau Street subdivision will be built by the Princeton Construction Company, with the Middlesex Realty Company of New Brunswick handling sales. The 220,000-square-foot Harrison Street project, providing it is given the go-ahead signal, will be developed by Majestic Construction Inc. of South Orange.

In last week's Town Topics, Princeton Construction Company was designated as the intended builder of both subdivisions, but this error resulted from the fact that plans for both have been drawn for the different companies by the same Princeton engineer, Edward B. Van Note.

At the Borough Engineering Department, where sketches of the Harrison Street subdivision have been submitted, a spokesman said Joseph Karp, president of Majestic, will appear at the Planning Board session to discuss his split-level homes, priced somewhere between $23,000 and $25,000. Mr. Karp is expected to cite his company's development of Princeton Knolls as a good reason for okaying the new project.

There have been reports that some residents of the Harrison Street area will object to "look-alike" qualities of the proposed subdivision, but Mr. Karp has indicated he will argue that the homes in Princeton Knolls—similar to what he has in mind for the new acreage—are not "look-alikes" in any strict sense of the phrase. Also, he will argue that there is no market for higher priced houses in that area, which would be caused by any radical changes in plans.

According to preliminary reports, Princeton Construction's houses for the Nassau Street subdivision will be sold for a price in the neighborhood of $30,000. They will vary somewhat from previous homes developed in conjunction with Middlesex Realty for Shady Brook, Lake Carnegie Estates and Overbrook locations.

In view of the Borough's need for new housing and its current lack of available land for new subdivisions, approval of both proposed subdivisions is expected at the February meeting. The Planning Board will be reminded of other successful developments by both companies, and Mr. Van Note has said plans for both will conform with Borough zoning requirements.

If the Planning Board approves preliminary plans, public hearings for consideration of final plans will be scheduled in early March.

Record Borough Budget. For the first time in its 143-year history, the Borough of Princeton will require a total budget in excess of $1,000,000 to manage 1956-57 operations. Mayor P. MacKay Sturges announced the figure at a special Council meeting, during which the new budget was accepted unanimously on introduction.

An increase in the 1956 tax rate of approximately 13 to 15 points has been unofficially estimated at Borough Hall. Last year's rate was $5.31 per $100 of assessed valuation. The mayor said the exact net hike probably would be known late this week.

Mayor Sturges was not precise regarding the tax rate's point jump because it will hinge on the county's action in the matter of equalization of rates for Mercer's 14 municipalities. Princeton Borough was expected to receive a credit of approximately seven cents from action to be taken this week in Trenton.

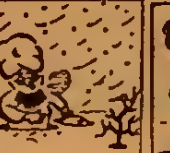

The rate for local purposes is scheduled to increase by 11 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. The rate for local purposes is scheduled to increase by 11 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. The school rate in the Borough already has been determined as eight cents higher. A portion of the seven cents' credit predicted from the county will be offset by higher county taxes. Accordingly, the net increase for Borough taxpayers is expected to be in the neighborhood of 13 to 15 points.

Employees Earn Raises. The sum needed to operate the Borough itself is $737,000, the Mayor pointed out, noting that the resultant 11-cent increase is almost entirely due to salary raises for municipal employees. These workers, including all members of the police force, will receive an average boost of $300 annually, while the added revenue also will meet the expense of expanding the police department.

It's New to Us

Cornucopia. Let no one make the mistake of thinking that the new Penn Fruit market is just a fruit stand where you can pick up a casual banana. On a recent visit to this new market, armed with a guide, compass and tent, lest we be lost in its vastness, we discovered everything from children's underwear and live lobsters to a caserole of bread pudding.

The market is nine miles from Stockton and Bayard Lane at the traffic circle just outside Trenton where the Lawrenceville Road ends and Brunswick Avenue begins. It is the biggest market we have ever seen.

Penn Fruit lures you inside by placing the coffee grinders right by the door so that the pleasing coffee fragrance is your first impression. (National coffee brands, plus Penn Fruit's own three grades.)

In the rest of this vaulted Grand Central there is a meat counter as long as a freight train, with specialties like tripe or beef lungs, four kinds of pale pink veal roasts, and a special section for steaks and chops of double thickness. At the rear is a small tank containing live lobsters. You are the fisherman.

On the beds of ice in the fish counter, we found roe and buck shad, Spanish and Boston mackerel, rock fish and sturgeon, the smooth ovals of butterfish, and oysters, clams and crabmeat in a bewildering variety of sizes for any kind of stew, chowder or fish-ry.

The garbled Avellino friizes hang over the Italian sweet boiled ham, the kosher salami, roll mop and the maties hering. Ricotta and Locatelli Romano cheeses are packed below a swinging row of rope-bound provolone.

Five kinds of apples, two grades of Florida juice oranges. Vine-ripened tomatoes, dandelion greens and anise for a winter salad. Spinach? It comes bagged in cellophane, or loose, for those who like to browse.

The pastry shelves offer Danish honey butter buns, and a chocolate chip chiffton cake (17 ounces for 68c). Nearby there are English hard candies in a jar, domestic chocolates, and a bursting pantry of cocktail snacks.

What else? A "bank" where you can cash your checks and pay your Public Service bill, a miniature florist's shop (African violets, tiny azaleas, philodendron), crib sheets, shaving soap and a magazine stand.

A word to drivers: go around the circle to Brunswick Avenue and drive in that entrance.

Driftwood and Lace. A new pair of spring pumps at Hult's is a deliciously tawny shade called "Driftwood" with marble veins running through the calf leather. Air-step, $11.95. The companion pump is "Wedgewood Blue"—almost a grey, and quite a distinctive color for leather.

The store at 140 Nassau is also showing a large collection of spring and summer black dress shoes in nylon net or lace. Some have saucy black patent leather heels and vamp bows. Others have heels done in black linen. There's a piercing spike of a heel, a midway heel, and some Louis. Most of these black beauties are pumps in the classic style but there is a sling sandal, too. Prices hover around $10.95 and $12.95.

Patent is still good news, after its long eclipse. Hult's "Embraceable" pump has an elastic band that fits it neatly to a foot that might not otherwise be able to wear a pump.

For women who want color on their feet, Hult's now has white shantling dress pumps (high or Louis heel) that can be dyed any color you like. They are $8.95.

Shoes for earlier in the day are looser style, but with an air. Trampette has a shag booter (shag is suede, but heavier), with flexible neolite sole. It comes in chaireuse and vanilla. Another suede shoe is an Oxford with cubes of wood at the ends of its ties.

ment by two patrolmen, a step accomplished during 1955. Other major costs will be incurred in garbage collection to $20,000, two trucks for the Engineering Department and training school for police. Regarding these items, Councilman Raymond F. Malettemore, "This is a tight, realistic budget which has received close scrutiny by all Council members. It could be increased, but only if the Council wanted inadequate salaries for the Borough's employees and an inadequate police force."

In addition to the Borough's share of the total $1,500,000 budget, another $529,000 must be raised through taxation for the school system. Funds paid to the county from the Borough will approximate $260,000.

A public hearing on the record budget will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday, February 28, in Borough Hall, following ample time for questions and then for Princeton to place its stamp of approval on the total figures. Council's February session will take place the night of the 14th.

Princeton Bank Grows Fast. With the announcement that the net earnings and year-end figures of the Princeton Bank and Trust Company for 1955 reflected the largest growth in the institution's 121 years of service to the community, George E. Cook 3rd, bank president, this week issued his annual report to the stockholders.

For the seventh consecutive year, the president noted, the upward trend of deposits resulted in an all-time high. Total deposits of $21,153,423 were $2,828,000 above December 31, 1954, an increase of 15.4% which indicated not only the general prosperity of the national economy, "but the widespread confidence of our growing community," Mr. Cook observed.

In addition to the record deposits, an increase in total capital funds to a new high of $1,150,000 brought Princeton Bank's total resources to a new peak of $22,356,722. Said Mr. Cook: "Not only do our increased capital funds afford protection to our depositors, but the quality and liquidity of our assets remain excellent. The maximum safety of deposits continues to be provided."

The president devoted considerable attention to bank loans, stressing that all of them continue to be regarded as "good and collectible in full." "Princeton has no exception to the nationwide demand for credit which persisted throughout 1955," he explained. "In supplying a substantial share of the requirements of local business and individuals, as well as those of municipalities, civic and charitable organizations, our loans and mortgages increased $1,133,000, or 24%, to a new high of $5,480,827."

Shopping Center Helps. Mr. Cook mentioned that Princeton Bank's branch at the Princeton Shopping Center, "with adequate parking facilities and convenient daily and Friday evening banking hours," attracted new customers during the past year, when $1,000,000 was deposited there—double the 1954 amount.

"The financial difficulties of the Center, in which we have had no part, have been unfortunate," the bank president wrote. "We firmly believe that the experienced management of the new owners will materially benefit the Center's tenants and the community as a whole. The fact remains that the Princeton Bank and Trust Company is the only bank which is fully serving our community through offices in both Princeton Borough and Princeton Township."

Mr. Cook observed that "prompt investment of increased deposits in loans and securities at prevailing rates resulted in both gross and net earnings reaching the highest" in the bank's history. Expenses jumped, too, due to expanded operations, he noted, but nonetheless net earnings amounted to $168,208, or $6.72 per share (in contrast with $5.07 per share for 1954 on the 25,000 shares of common capital stock outstanding in both years.)

Emphasizing that "enthusiasm must not be substituted for caution and that prosperity must not be permitted to overshadow its problems, the president pledged

Target For Tonight

Several times in recent years the walls of Princeton University's ballistics laboratory have been blown out by explosive experiments within, but early Tuesday morning — for the first time — its walls were blown in by an explosive experiment without.

In this particular instance, Bernard Figueroa Rivera, a Key & Seal Club employee, making use of his third learner's permit with little success, provoked the explosion. He "experimented" with his 1950 Chrysler at 2:30 in the morning and ran head-on into the unsuspecting lab, located east of Palmer Stadium.

The motorist's companion, licensed operator Emérito Rivera (no kin), a Cottage Club worker who assisted in his friend's most costly driving attempt to date, said he thought it was a good time for practice. Although the effects as he was wrong. Both Riveras were let for careless driving by Township Patrolman Richard Stelner.

"I'm not a very good driver," the still-learning Rivera confessed.

"to remain aware of the problems which confront our economy, our bank and our community and to contribute to their solution through constructive action and sound judgment." He concluded: "Your confidence in us is our greatest asset."

Progress Report. Assets of Princeton Savings and Loan association rose to a record $4,099,235 in 1955, a gain of 20.8% during the year, according to the annual report made public this week by George C. Wintinger, president of the association.

Mr. Wintinger said the year had been one of "outstanding progress." As a result of "increasingly strong financial condition and the prospect of continuing prosperity," the dividend rate has been raised to 3% per annum effective as of January 1.

Other highlights of the year included: net savings up 13.7% ($474,365) to a total of $3,485,190; dividends paid out totalled $86,585; home loans gained by 28.5%, rising to a total of $3,364,125; reserves and undivided profits increased by 13.2% over 1954, totalling $323,167.

Mr. Wintinger forecasts a continuation of good business in 1956, particularly in the first six months. He predicted that the economic expansion of 1955 would continue, in expanding inventories, high rate of consumer spending, peak employment and a high level of construction in this area. "Despite some tightening of mortgage money, there will be plenty of funds available to finance the volume of home building," he said.

Mr. Wintinger was re-elected as president. Other officers for the coming year were elected as follows: E. Franklin Bunn, vice-president; Mrs. Charlotte W. Dougherty, executive secretary; John F. Hoff Jr., treasurer, and Mrs. Helen S. Shepard, assistant secretary.

Louis R. Gerber was chosen as counsel for the association. Directors re-elected for new three-year terms were Mr. Wintinger, Carl C. Shafer and Isaac A. Vogel.

Tavern Gets Ex-Royal Chef. Carl DeRousse, executive chef at Buckingham Palace during the reigns of the British kings Edward VIII and George VI, will assume direction of the Nassau Tavern Hotel's recently completed $50,000 kitchen, George Washko, manager of the hotel, announced this week.

Trained under the world famous culinary master August Escoffier, at the Carlton Hotel in London, DeRousse has been in the profession for over 25 years. In addition to serving royalty he has been associated with some of the world's finest hotels and acted as senior chef on ocean liners operated for the Canadian Pacific Steamship Company.

Chef DeRousse recalls that one of his most pleasant duties at Buckingham Palace was the arrangement of "children's parties for the little girls." The "little girls" to whom he refers are the present Queen Elizabeth II and the Princess Margaret Rose.

After enlisting in World War II as a private in the British army, DeRousse became an instructor of cooking and was later transferred to North Africa as

News of the Theatres

McCARTER THEATRE

"Debut" makes its bow here next Wednesday in the start of a five-performance run, longest engagement in McCarter Theatre's history (to date). The comedy by Mary Drayton will open at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, February 1, and play nightly at 8:30 Thursday thru Saturday. There will be a Saturday matinee at 2:30 on February 4.

The play is launched by an off-stage voice singing "Ain't It a Shame to Sin on Sunday" and proceeds with antics and experiences centering around a lively Southern belle (in rebellion) who is about to make her bow into society. The setting is an antebellum mansion in the Deep South, with families and visitors of the old order.

The debutante will be played by Inger Stevens, who is making her Broadway debut in the comedy. The blonde Swedish-born star is best known for her many television performances on practically all of the major dramatic shows.

Tom Helmore will appear as the leading man, a newspaper correspondent. A leading actor in the American theatre, he has been seen most recently in the film, "The Tender Trap," in the part which Kent Smith played last year at the McCarter. Other members of the cast, highly rated for comic skill, include G. Albert Smith, Edith Gresham, Eulabelle Moore, Grace Raynor, Charles McDaniel and Osceola Archer.

Mary Drayton based her play on the novel "Maria and the Captain" by Isabel Dunn. The comedy had a tryout at a Rhode Island summer theatre last September, winning good notices from visiting critics.

A week later, they approached John Gerstad to take on the directing chores. Mr. Gerstad (who directed "The Seven Year Itch") had also seen the play and loved it, giving the comedy an especially good start towards Broadway.

Among the summer comments on the play was that of Elinor Hughes of the Boston Herald, who said: "This play has a future. Warm and human and funny, its humor is of the sort that springs from character—not gags."

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Lieutenant Wore Skirts (Jan. 26-28) stars appealing Tom Ewell in the comedy about a husband who traipses about after his wife (who's in the Air Force). ## TOPICS OF THE TOWN

their foolishness this week—with results that proved just as painful for their families as the vandals themselves. And, though they got much of the court action behind them, there were still moments of anguish ahead.

In West Windsor Township Court last Saturday, with Magistrate Raymond H. Britton presiding, three of the four boys were cited under the disorderly persons act for possession of high-powered air rifles and malicious shooting of the BB guns from an auto. They were fined $105 each for their childish activity and ordered to pay West Windsor damages amounting to $52.30 apiece.

Involved in the West Windsor court procedure, which covered destruction of expensive windows at three specific locations in the Dutch Neck-Princeton Junction area, were Renato Carazzai, 20, of 19 Leigh Avenue, and Herbert N. Kramp, 18, of Penns Neck, whose licenses were taken away for six months by Magistrate Britton, and one juvenile, whose case was heard by the magistrate in his dual capacity as juvenile referee for West Windsor Township. To give each defendant equal punishment, Magistrate Britton ordered the juvenile not to seek a driver's license for the same half-year period.

Urging the BB gun trio to don "thinking caps" at once and warning each defendant that he will face grand jury action on a charge of possessing an illegal weapon if ever arrested in any future criminal matter in West Windsor, the magistrate used the occasion to stress that he will be "extremely harsh" on any other youths who commit similar offenses in his jurisdiction. He also praised the State Police for their investigative work in apprehending the boys, and for their suggestion that the boys be kept from the grand jury this time.

Borough Damage Heavy. While the youths were spared grand jury action as a result of their West Windsor "pranks," Kramp's luck ran out when he appeared alone before Borough Magistrate Paul R. Chesebro in Princeton Municipal Court Tuesday afternoon. The defendant pleaded guilty to two serious misdemeanors—possession and shooting of a BB gun and destruction of numerous store windows along Nassau and Witherspoon Streets—and was referred to the grand jury by Magistrate Chesebro.

The magistrate explained that admitted damage in the Borough totalled far more than $200—more than $1,100, to be exact—so, though he did not enjoy doing it, he had no choice but to refer the young defendant to the Trenton judicial group. Kramp waived preliminary hearing rights and was released in custody of relatives after posting $1,000 cash bond.

Carazzai was the soloist before Township Magistrate Louis R. Gerber Tuesday night, and his case was heard there because none of the three charges against him involved a sum of $200. The young Princetonian pleaded guilty to possession of an air rifle, destruction of a $150 window at Mike & Tony's service station and malicious damage to other property, including light posts, picture windows and street lights.

"This is quite serious," Magistrate Gerber observed, "but, more than a fine, I think that you need personal guidance. You may be 20, but you act like a child of 12."

After Carazzai apologized for his behavior, explaining that "we had no grudges, we just did it" and that "I have a fancy for guns," the magistrate fined him $30 for each charge, or a total of $90, and issued the rest of his sentence as "a deterrent." He placed Carazzai on probation for one year, with a recommendation that the probation officer arrange for the defendant to receive YMCA supervision and "be home by 11 each night for six months," and he ordered Carazzai to arrange for re-imbursement with each person he damaged. Also, he recommended revocation of the defendant's driver's license for 30 days.

Juveniles To Be Heard. While Kramp contended that he shot at property in the Borough without Carazzi and the latter testified he destroyed windows and lights in Princeton Township without Kramp, the two juveniles in the widespread case have stated they were with both older boys during their separate joy rides. Accordingly, the juveniles will appear before Howard W. Stepp, juvenile referee for both Princeton municipalities, at a later date, presumably to hear all charges at the same sitting.

All four boys were arrested 10 days ago in West Windsor Township after lengthy State Police detective work pointed the finger of suspicion at them. Interrogated by Trooper R. W. Fisher and Borough Patrolman Richard Panicaro, the youths broke down quickly and signed statements confessing the area-wide BB mischief. Their weapons, three air rifles purchased in Pennsylvania, were confiscated by the police.

Chased in Wrong Direction. Stressing that driving down a one-way street in the wrong direction "is serious, regardless of who is chasing you," Township Magistrate Louis R. Gerber imposed a fine of $15 for the violation on Harry J. Christian, 24 Quarry Street. The defendant credited pursuit by a would-be assailant as the cause of his decision to disobey the one-way street ordinance.

In other traffic action Tuesday night, the magistrate levied a speeding fine of $20 against Will S. Patee, 41 Stanworth Lane, and a careless driving fine of $20 against Myron M. Hancock, 254 Jefferson Road. John Tergesen of South River was found guilty of careless driving and assessed $15 for his part in a two-car accident with Ralph E. DeMaskey of Trenton, who was ruled innocent.

Before commencing his court calendar Tuesday, Magistrate Gerber asked for a minute of silent prayer in memory of Superior Court Judge Ralph J. Smalley. The assignment judge for Mercer County died last week end.

Other board officers chosen were Mrs. William Williams, secretary; Mrs. Dessa Skinner, treasurer, and Mrs. David Miller, assistant treasurer. New board members elected for three-year terms were Mrs. Karl Behr, Mrs. Lee Bristol, Mrs. Coleman Donaldson, Mrs. T. C. Gleysteen, Mrs. R. F. Goheen, Mrs. Robert Sinkler, Mrs. Gerald Smith and Mrs. Hibben Zelsing.

The annual report given at the meeting showed that the school operated at its full capacity of 40 children and also met last year's need for a pre-school program for the younger children of working mothers. Miss Evangelina Miller, director of the school for 19 of the 26 years it has been in existence, was commended in the report for her work.

Appreciation was also expressed for volunteer work done at the school by students from Miss Fine's School and from Princeton University and for the generous contributions to the 1955 Community Chest, to which the school is dependent for the major part of its financing.

Improvements to the physical condition of the school included in the report were replacement of an antiquated piece of playground equipment, painting, new linoleum, 15 aluminum screens and new mattress covers. The report also acknowledged the following gifts received during the year: books from Mrs. Skinner, aluminum tables and chairs from Mrs. Sidney Shea, toys from Mrs. William Scheide and Mrs. A. N. Spanel, clothing from Mrs. Thorn Lord and contributions to the Milk Fund from the Hillcrest Society and from Dr. and Mrs. William Kleinberg.

Hopes Success Succeeds. Fresh from successful management of the 1955 United Fund drive in Pottstown, Pa., the new executive director of Princeton's Community Chest, which did similarly well last year, arrived in town this week to take over his full-time duties. On his arrival, Walter H. Scott expressed the hope that more success will be produced by the merger of two successes.

"Pottstown, with a population of 28,000, collected $190,000 last year to improve 20% over 1954," Mr. Scott observed. "Princeton also increased its total collections by 20%. For two small towns, they both wound up with excellent records—14% above the national average. I guess you can't blame me for feeling optimistic about the future."

Pointing out that employment of a full-time executive director represents a new venture for Princeton, Mr. Scott said he has two immediate objectives in mind to help convince the community it has made a wise decision.

First, he will thoroughly acquaint himself with the Chest's 10 agencies and their service to the community, thereby placing himself in a position to interpret their basic importance and indicate the Chest's niche in the overall picture of community needs.

Second, he will meet frequently with John P. Poe, general chairman for the 1956 Chest campaign, to complete much of the campaign organization before summer instead of waiting until fall.

No Stranger to Princeton. The new executive director, who has taken temporary quarters with his wife at 604 Kingston Road, explained that he is not a stranger to Princeton. "While working in Haddonfield some years ago, I used to bring promising high school students from all over Camden county to spend three days each spring on the university campus," he said.

Purpose of the annual treks, according to Mr. Scott, was to stimulate interest in college education, and also to show boys from homes of modest income that it was quite possible for them to attend a school of Princeton's high standing. "I wouldn't be surprised if those trips were the forerunners of the senior days held on campus each year now," he said.

Mr. Scott, who will make his first official public appearance in Princeton at the Chest's victory dinner the night of February 8, has devoted all of his adult life to the field of social work. He came here primarily as a result of his friendly association with Douglas Falconer, who surveyed the Princeton Chest situation last summer and suggested a permanent executive director. While Mr. Falconer was head of the United Seaman's Service during World War II, Mr. Scott was director of the service's successful eastern region.

Between his wartime directorship and a two-year stint as executive director of Pottstown's United Fund, Mr. Scott served as leader of the agency division of the big-money Philadelphia Community Chest.

asked for an additional week's delay due to vacation problems. Before conclusion of the court session, Magistrate Chesboro was advised that the Secony-Mobil Oil Company had dutifully removed a large illegal "flying red horse" from the front of its Vaughn & Rocknak station at 225 Nassau Street. The magistrate, who gave the company two weeks to corral the pesky pegasus, leerried that dismounting took place four hours before his official deadline, so dismissed charges against Secony-Mobil and the station's tenants.

one-way street almost stole the spotlight in Municipal Court this week, but he had trouble competing against Officer Robert J. Anderson. For the second straight Tuesday the patrolman brought 16 stop sign complaints to the attention of Borough Magistrate Paul R. Chesboro.

The wrong-way driver, Richard Holland, 14 Jackson Street, pleaded guilty to both charges. He was fined $25 for driving without a license and another $10 for the one-way street offense. Magistrate Chesboro indicated it was likely the Motor Vehicle Division, which placed Holland on the revoked list in February, 1953, will extend the revocation.

As was the case a week ago, Patrolman Anderson spotted his victims at the Bayard Lanes-Nassau Street intersection. This time, he signed complaints against nine Princeton area drivers and seven non-resident motorists, most of them choosing to pay out of court and all of them eventually fined. Princetonians assessed a $12 penalty for violating the Bayard Lane stop sign included Mrs. Barbara S. Cruise, 162 Springdale Road; Mrs. Rita C. Tyler, Lawrenceville Road; Mrs. Jean B. DeBree, 130 Westcott Road; Mrs. Elsie E. Kerney, 35 Cleveland Lane; Mrs. Charlotte MacGill, 121 Westcott Road; Mrs. Mildred R. Cook, 696 Kingston Road; William Klussen, Province Line Road; John H. Meyer, 148 Library Place; and George Boccantuso, 143 Linden Lane.

Long Traffic Session. In other action during the two-hour traffic session, Magistrate Chesboro fined five Princeton area drivers and the same number of out-of-town visitors for assorted violations.

Most serious of the offenses was a failure-to-yield-right-of-way complaint worth $20 to David V. Cresson, 51 Westcott Road. Mervyn W. Perrine, 220-D Harrison Street, admitted speeding, but a good driving record and his status as a student spared him court costs and he was obliged to pay a $5 fine only.

Six motorists made news because they were charged with passing through stop signs by officers other than Patrolman Anderson. Among this half-dozen were Mrs. Nancy N. Lee, Province Lane Road; Mrs. Sarah M. Frantz, 61 Battle Road; and Frank A. Rissi, Penns Neck. All paid their $12 fines out of court.

Court Postscript. The scheduled court appearance of Philip L. Garland Jr., 57 Lower Harrison Street, and E. Anthony James, 221 Joline Hall, Princeton University, charged with a total of nine complaints following a wild shooting spree and auto chase, was postponed for two weeks. James, who has posted a $1,000 bond (Garland has made bail of $1,500), requested and received a one-week adjournment due to university examinations, while police officers

West and East of the Sun. Present members of Princeton University's Triangle Club continued to note the success of the club's 1955 show this week, almost a month after putting it in mothballs, while Triangles from bygone productions joined their chorus of praise—and also fondly recalled high points of former presentations. Naturally, in their reminiscences, all remembered "East of the Sun," the most popular song in Triangle Show history.

"East of the Sun" was composed for the Triangle Club's piece of nonsense, "Stags At Bay," and 1956 marks the 20th anniversary of the graduation of its talented Princeton author, the late Brooks Bowman, Class of 1936. Also, 1956 marks another year that the melodic song, with memorable words and music, will be played and enjoyed around the world, west as well as east of the sun.

While the show itself may be "piece of nonsense" without anyone taking offense, including its creators and its now-famous director, Joseph Logan, Class of 1931, "East of the Sun" cannot be so classified with justification. Since it was first published in 1934, by Stanley Music Inc. of New York (now Joy Music Inc.), the number has been recorded by more than 40 noted American vocalists and/or organizations and, of significance, has earned continuous royalties for the Triangle Club from incredible (and untaxed) sales of its records and sheet music.

Hal Kemp was the first band-leader to grab "East of the Sun," which was ably promoted by its publishers. The Benny Goodman Sextet followed with a rapid rendition, while Tommy Dorsey and his orchestra connected probably the best-known recording, thanks in large degree to a catchy "pat-ter chorus" and some festering singers, Frank Sinatra and the Pied Pipers. An avalanche of versions came along later, with Sarah Vaughn and Patti Page adding money-making feminine approaches and George Shearing's Quintet scoring on an instrumental.

Slow Start, Strong Finish. Digging into the past this month, proud Triangles were amused to recall that "East of the Sun" was not "boomed" in pre-show publicity as the top tune of "Stags At Bay." Rather, "Will Love Find A Way?" — co-authored by Mr. Bowman — was rated the production's best chance for widespread acclaim.

One interested Princetonian, thinking back 20 years, observed that he would never forget Brooks Bowman's "ingratiating way of singing the songs at rehearsals, particularly "East of the Sun." Others no doubt sensed, back in the early fall of 1934, that "East of the Sun" was a great song, and their belief was soon shared by many easterners after "Stags At Bay" played before 18,000 spectators in 13 cities.

But "East of the Sun" and its clever running mate, "Love and A Dime," did not move to the fore and away from "Will Love Find A Way?" until Sandy and Kemp combined forces to stimulate success. "A professional job of plugging sold 'East of the Sun,'" one author pointed out recently, and while I don't wish to discredit the song in the least, I feel other Triangle numbers might have achieved similar success with enthusiastic promotion by a good publisher."

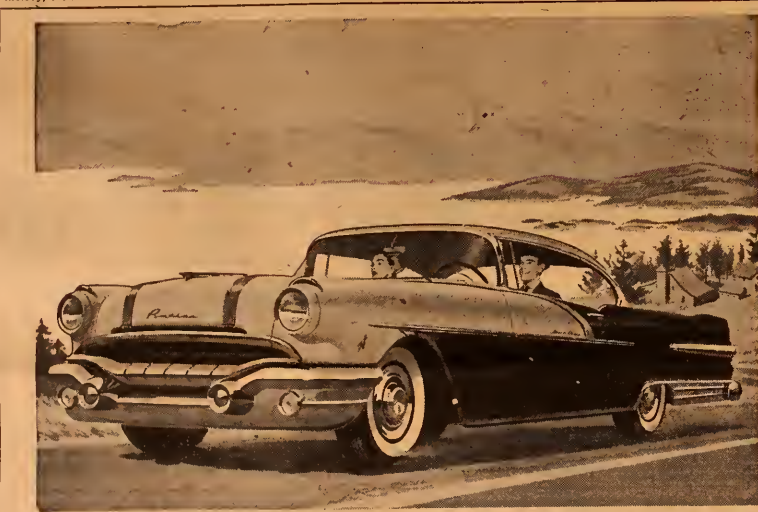

A review of the phenomenal story of "East of the Sun" — heard in a secluded London pub by one Princetonian last summer — and in a Chicago "dive" by another just last week — naturally recalls the death of its composer at age 23. Brooks Bowman had written one song for the 1933 Triangle Show (after transferring to Princeton from Stanford on the recommendation of Harvey S. Firestone, Class of 1920, among others); six for the 1934 show and four more for the 1935 production, and, in all of them, he indicated promise of a brilliant musical career.

Following Princeton, where he did well in the Philosophy department and served as vice-president of his class during senior year, Brooks went to Broadway for a prominent role in Philip Barry's "Spring Dance" and shortly there—offer to Hollywood for a year's writing stint with Warner Brothers. His answers to a senior questionnaire at Princeton explained his intentions and revealed that he was blessed with a sense of humor as well as musical ability. Among them: "Future occupation? California parasite. Religious preference? Confucius. Political preference? The best man."

Brooks apparently felt Hollywood was not ready for him — or, perhaps, he was not ready for Hollywood — so he entered Yale Law School in the fall of 1937. On October 10 of that year, he was killed instantly when a car in which he was riding with three other young people (all injured) hit a stone wall between Cold Spring and Garrison, N. Y.

Brooks Bowman was buried in his hometown of Salem, Ohio, and an untapped talent was kept from being tapped. That is, kept from being completely tapped, for, as Triangles and millions of others will attest, one of his melodies remains in vogue, even today, "East of the Sun, and West of the Moon."

Smith Auction Saturday. The Smith College Club of Princeton's annual auction — an endeavor which over the past six years has provided funds for 10 scholarships to girls in the Princeton area — will be held Saturday beginning at 10 a.m. in the gymnasium of Miss Fine's School.

CARRY A BIG STICK: Asked to comment on John Foster Dulles' handling of American foreign policy, both Robert Drummmond (left) and James Hawley endorsed the Secretary of State wholeheartedly, indicating a strong desire to see him employ Theodore Roosevelt's "big stick" diplomacy. They were interviewed by Town Topics' inquiring reporter at a good spot for frank opinions, "coffee row" at The Bait. So were six other coffee-drinkers. For all of their answers to Question of the Week, read below. (Richards Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: In view of the recent "brink of war" hullabaloo, what is your opinion of the way John Foster Dulles is handling our foreign policy? (Suggested by Jay Ritchie, Hightstown.)

Location: The Bait.

Robert Drummmond, part-owner and service manager of Nassau Service Company, 65 Erdman Avenue: I think he's doing a lot better job than his predecessor—and, as long as they leave him alone, by all do all right. By "they," I mean Eisenhower's boys and the Senate. I don't believe he should be obliged to work with any strings attached. It's good for him to speak with a club in his hand—much better than our old, back-down policy.

James Hawley, counter man at The Bait, New Brunswick: In my opinion, John Foster Dulles is doing a fine job, considering the difficulties of the times—that is, the cold war with Russia and the situation with Red China as it stands today. I think the squabble over Life's article was a little far-fetched and, unfortunately, it will give the Russians an added chance to display their so-called "good neighbor policy" in countries where they have a foot in already.

Dr. William Seitz, Princeton University professor, 1073 Princeton-Kingston Road: From my point of view, Dulles seems to be handling our foreign policy very ineptly. He has caused our allies apprehension and given credibility to the propaganda of Russia and China. Stevenson was quite correct, in my opinion, when he used General Ridgway's criticisms in connection with his Life magazine article.

Samuel E. Copner, Princeton's assistant postmaster, Hopewell: Mr. Dulles is a competent man and I think President Eisenhower made a wise choice when he put him in the position of Secretary of State. Any decision the Secretary makes regarding our foreign policy is a well-studied decision, and I'll go along with it. Also, I believe he has the full backing of the President and his cabinet in such decisions. As far as the "brink of war" business is concerned personally, I'd say it was a misinterpretation of what Mr. Dulles meant by what he said.

James B. Burnside, travelling salesman, Mt. Lucas Road: You've touched a real sore spot by asking me that question. I think Dulles is leading us down the road to ruin—but fast! I only hope we can vote the Democrats back into "Washington before he finishes the job.

Lon Luck, Princeton University freshman, 114 Lockhart Hall: Actually, while his mannerisms may occasionally be blunt, I think that—in the long run—he is a thor-

One Luce Tie

"Local angles" being important ingredients of many newspaper stories and features, especially in a publication such as Town Topics, it is not surprising to note that the inquiring reporter wore a look of satisfaction following his latest Question of the Week interview.

Question of the Week concerned a prominent Princeton University graduate, John Foster Dulles '08. In addition to five men who work in the Princeton area, Question's chance answerers included a Princeton University professor, Dr. William Seitz; a Princeton University undergraduate, Lon Luck; and a Princeton University alumnus, John Kalajian '49. One person referred to another distinguished graduate, Adlai Stevenson '22, in his response. And, to stretch a point, more than one referred to one of Princeton's well-known honorary degree holders, Dwight D. Eisenhower '47.

Sole schism in the scheme of things: Henry R. Luce, the man behind Life magazine and its Question-provoking "brink of war" article, went to Yale.

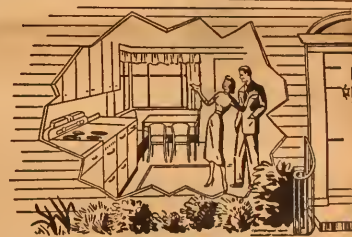

oughly responsible man who seems to have things as much under control as they could well be. Life's article was a ridiculous blunder, I'll admit, but not so significant as the politicians are making it. It's not hard to tell if a GOP administration. About the "brink of war" article—the only way to avoid such a stand is through appeasement, so I feel it's much smarter to swing Dulles' way and face up to the scare of war. What he's doing is pretty obvious—and some people don't like it—but I do. It's a policy of bravery—the only language the Soviets understand anyhow.

Quentin Foley, construction worker, Rocky Hill: I can't think of a better way to answer your question than to paraphrase the President—I have great faith in Dulles, as I do in "God, peace" and I maintain that faith regardless of whether there were unfortunate expressions in the Life article. It seems to me the desperate Democrats are making much ado about nothing in emphasizing the Life hassle—I'm not paraphrasing like now, but I'll bet he agrees with me!

THEY'VE GOT THE GAME ON ICE: That is, this group of ambitious Princeton teenagers is able to learn and play hockey two or three times each week as a result of the combined efforts of all members, their parents and an enthusiastic, volunteer coach. They compose the newly formed junior division of the Princeton Hockey Club, renting time on the Lawrenceville School rink and playing other teams of comparable ability whenever possible (season's record: 2-1). Pictured are (left to right, front row) Roger Nicoll, Burke McHugh, Howard Calkin, Barry Dickinson, Dick Kenarney and Bobby Cox; (back row) Halford Jay and Henry W. ### Sports in Princeton

Two-Team Race? Farsighted sports fans will take steps well ahead of time to get tickets for a basketball game on Wednesday, March 7. That's the night Princeton plays Columbia in Dillon Gym and it could be the contest that will determine the outcome of the 1956 race.

It is possibly too early to say that the current scramble for Ivy honors has developed into a two-team affair, but the manner in which Princeton turned back Dartmouth and Columbia walloped Yale has given the standings that sort of appearance. Every entry save the Tigers and the Lions has lost at least twice, and an 11-3 mark is about the lowest that can be counted on to win the title outright.

These are the standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Columbia	4	0	1.000
Princeton	3	0	1.000
Cornell	3	2	.600
Harvard	2	2	.500
Pennsylvania	2	2	.600
Dartmouth	1	3	.250
Yale	0	2	.000
Brown	0	4	.000

Princeton tackles Columbia on the Lions floor a week from Saturday (with the game set for television over Channel 13). Somewhat stronger than they were last year, and possessors of a fine 10-3 mark, the New Yorkers will be favored on a basis of home court surroundings. They trimmed the Orange and Black there a year ago, 65-58, after overcoming an eight-point deficit.

The Light Blue replaced Princeton at the top of the standings during the past week by thumping Yale twice, 80-54 at New Haven (in a game that was marked by 48 personals and 89 free throws), and then settling a Columbia scoring record with a 102 to 60 triumph Saturday in New York. High-scoring Chet Forte accounted for 64 points in the two contests.

Trouble at New Haven. Yale, picked in the coaches' pre-season poll to finish third—behind Dartmouth and Columbia and ahead of Princeton—is reportedly suffering the pangs of internal strife. Coach Howard Hobson, whose 1954-55 record was a dismal 3 and 21, is said to be on his way out, although he will finish the season at New Haven.

Dartmouth may get back into contention, but will have to trim Columbia at New York in an early February game to do so. The Indians are the best bet to help Princeton out by upsetting Columbia at Hanover. A loss to the New York quintet next week will keep the pressure on the Orange and Black throughout the month of February, since it might well have to win all the rest to catch the fast-moving Lions here on March 7. A game against Rutgers here next Wednesday at 8 will mark Princeton's return to action after examinations.

Scoring Records. The balance that has made the Tigers a major threat in the race is clearly reflected in the scoring statistics for the first dozen games. All five Princeton starters are averaging in double figures and the lowest shooting average credited to them individually is 37%. As a team, their mark of 42% ranks them 13th nationally, an extremely high rating.

Captain John DeVoe is the leader with a 16.3 average per game and 179 points, despite the fact that he missed one game because of illness in his family. Behind him come Dave Fulcomer, 175 points and a 14.6 average; Ken MacKenzie, 157 points and 13.1; Fred Perkins, 148 points and 12.2; Don Davidson, 134 points and 12.2. The latter also missed a game because of illness.

The averages range from a low of 37% for Davidson all the way up to 46% for MacKenzie. Davidson is the most accurate from the foul line, where he has hit on 85% of his free throws to rank 12th in the nation.

Hockey Game Saturday. American International, a small college from Springfield, Mass., which surprised Princeton with a 4-3 triumph last year, will open the second half of Princeton's hockey season Saturday night at 8 in Baker Rink. The Tigers go into the contest with a good 7-4 mark.

Harry Rulon-Miller of Newlin Road, sophomore member of the first line, is pacing the team in scoring. The fast-skating wing has ten goals and half a dozen assists for 16 points. Roger Boocock of the second line and Captain George Scragg each have 14

"NO GAME TODAY—RAIN" will become a phrase of the past if the Brooklyn Dodgers go through with plans to build this all-weather stadium. points, Scragg leading the team in assists with 10.

Harvard leads the Ivy circuit with four points on a basis of victories over Brown and Dartmouth. Princeton, Yale and Brown have all triumphed over the Indians to create a three-way tie for second and to indicate rather clearly who will wind up last.

"Weather Worries at an End?
The model of a proposed all-weather stadium that would cost the Brooklyn Dodgers $5,000,000 as a replacement for out-moded Ebbets Field was shown Walter O'Malley, club president, here last weekend. It was presented as a part of an examination for a master of fine arts degree by Billy Kleinasser, whose sleight-of-hand artistry and speed as a wingback made him a great running mate for Dick Kazmaier on the unbeaten Princeton football team of 1950.

Considered entirely practical to build if the Dodgers find a site and plan to underwrite an expenditure of that kind, the dome-topped park is the invention of R. Buckminster Fuller. As presently conceived, it would:

Stiegman to Rutgers

On September 24 last fall, Princeton rolled over a supposedly able Rutgers football team, 41 to 7, thereby starting a chain reaction that had its climax last weekend. The highly unofficial but apparently powerful "Rutgers 4-H Club" (Hand Harman His Hat) moved into high gear and by the end of the season, the university was ready to announce that its head coach (2-6 on the season) would retain his faculty status but would not direct the football team in 1956.

In the intervening weeks, as many as 100 applicants indicated an interest in becoming his successor. Last Saturday John R. Stiegman, assistant line coach at Princeton and a member of the staff for the past decade, was selected as Rutgers' head coach, receiving a three-year contract at $10,000 annually.

Princeton will also be faced with the problem of replacing Stiegman as freshman hockey coach and 150-lb. crew coach. For an estimate of what he has accomplished in his ten years here, see "Man of the Week."

- Have a diameter of 550 feet, and would range in height from 220 to 250 feet above the playing field, a level higher than any ball field would reach.
- Have a thickness of eight feet, which would provide sufficient strength to allow construction of a tramway across the top for sightseeing purposes.
- Be entirely devoid of posts, including light towers. Lights would hang in the form of a circular string at the juncture of the dome's base and the top of the stands, shooting light beams at the ceiling so that the semi-opaque panels would reflect the light back onto the field.

All seats in the $5,000 park would be below the ground level in addition to permitting the Dodgers to hold their 77 home games without regard to weather, he dome would permit rental of the stadium to such attractions as boxing matches, political and religious rallies and the Barnum & Bailey Circus, all with a complete guarantee they could be held as scheduled.

Hun Rumps Again. Improving steadily in each game, the Hun

School basketball team pulled out all stops last week and buried Stevens Academy, 79-60, for the Red and Black's second straight one-sided victory. The Princeton prep quintet held a decisive 47-29 halftime advantage.

Jim Lavan, after threatening to break loose in three previous games, did so against the visiting Stevens club, connecting on nine field goals and 13 free throws for high-point honors of 31. Ed Cottrell, who led Hun in its first two contests, followed Lavan with 22 markers and Frank Lewallen, who sparked his teammates in their initial win over Bryn Athyn, added 14.

Victory for Hun meant a 2-2 record to date for Coach Bart Leach's speed merchants, while defeat for Stevens left the academy five with a 5-3 mark. Hun will play Croysden Hall at home at 2:30 p.m. this Friday, then will journey to Stevens for a return engagement next Wednesday. The outcome of Wednesday afternoon's meeting with B.M.I., Continued on Page 20 in Bordentown, was not available at press time.

Little Tigers Win Thriller. Playing their second, home-court basketball thriller of this month, Princeton High's Little Tigers made up a 14-point deficit in two shots in the late stages before Marvin (Rags) Trotman assured PHS of victory with 30 seconds to go.

Trotman, the Little Tigers' leading point-maker for the seventh time in eight contests, deposited two free throws as the clock showed a half-minute remaining, thereby giving Princeton a two-basket margin. Dunellen closed the gap with a last-ditch field goal, but it was too late for another shot by the visitors.

When the game began, PHS raced to a five-point lead—a difference which was achieved at several junctures in the opening quarter—and appeared to have the Destroyers outclassed. Dunellen suddenly caught fire, however, and knotted matters by the end of the first period. In the second, with their big center, Henry, sinking an incredible percentage of jump shots, the Destroyers registered 21 markers, moving to a seemingly insurmountable 14-point lead at one time.

Coach Tony Borozak's Little Tigers then rallied beautifully, putting their on-and-off lead back on again to cut Dunellen's margin to 20-33 at intermission. Princeton stayed hot in the third period, while Henry and his teammates cooled off, and an 18-10 difference in favor of PHS in that quarter meant the ball game.

Trotman, Ammerman Star. In addition to his decisive, last-minute free throws, Trotman sank all of 15 other foul shots, plus eight field goals, to register a total of 29 points. While the Princeton star was thus solidifying his per-game average of 26, Captain Lee Ammerman also was enjoying another good afternoon, hitting on 73% of his shots for an output of 20 and aiding the Blue and White cause by grabbing 24 rebounds.

The Little Tigers, beaten by a 32 to 23 margin in field goals, needed to connect on 23 of 30 free throws, winning once again via this method as the Destroyers managed only three of 14 attempts. Such Princeton persistency at the foul line was fortunate, for Dick Burger experienced one of his less memorable games for PHS, dropping to the 22% mark in his floor shooting, while Dunellen's Henry was busy hitting on 15 of 22 shots for high point honors at 32 (20) in the first half.

As a team, Princeton sank 43% of its shots, but did not shoot often enough—and Dunellen, posting a 49% record, got off many more. So the Little Tigers raised their season's win-loss mark to 6-2 with free throws, and the Destroyers fell to 3-6 as a result of their deficiency in the same department.

Coach George Povall's PHS Jayvees won handily in both field and three throw categories as they defeated Dunellen's Juniors, 67-49, for their eighth consecutive triumph. Sophomore Ronald Cummings gave the visitors 25 of their points, but Alan Ammerman and Bruce Larsen of Princeton doubling-up on him, sinking 21 and 19, respectively.

ally to the group at 4 p.m., immediately following the association's business session. Members of the health agencies of the borough and Township will be guests of the association to hear Mr. Scott's talk.

The VNA's nominating committee, consisting of Mrs. Albridge C. Smith, Mrs. David Miller and Mrs. Walter van B. Roberts, chairman, will present the following slate for election: Miss Esther Dilworth, "vice-president"; Mrs. Raymond Rudy, treasurer; Mrs. Peter Gardner, assistant treasurer; Mrs. Hamilton Cottier, recording secretary; and Mrs. Kenneth Condit, corresponding secretary.

For election to the board of directors, to serve through 1958, the committee will nominate Mrs. Hans Bauer, Mrs. Elmer Timby and Mrs. Gardner to succeed Mrs. van B. Roberts; Mrs. Frederick S. Dunn and Mrs. W. Irving Harris, whose terms have expired. The nominating committee for 1958 will include Mrs. Daniel Dickey, Mrs. Howell Furman and Mrs. John C. Williams, chairman.

Teen Canteen Has Anniversary. The Princeton Teen Canteen, started at the request of teenagers who felt a need for a meeting place they could call their own, now entering its second year of operation. The canteen is under the joint sponsorship of the Young Women's Christian Association, The Young Men's Christian Association, The Parent-Teacher Association and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

In the winter of 1955 representatives from the Student Council of Princeton High School formed several committees to organize the canteen. Mrs. Arthur Jensen and the committee on rules and regulations visited a total of six canteens in the area to gain ideas.

This year the canteen is in full swing and is operating under the original rules with very few revisions. The Canteen Council elected last spring to serve this year includes Victor Payne, president; Nick Kovalakides, vice president; Kay Donohy, secretary; and the following committee chairman: Sue Coley and Dorothy Stalker, hosts and hostesses; Carol Anderson and Davis Young, publicity; Richard Sartor, program; Mason Reagan and Howard Calkin, equipment; Julia Summerhill and Pat Lipkatz, membership.

Nancy Craven, Sandy Weyermer, refreshments; and Brian Shannon and Dana Morgan clean-up.

Housing Problem Discussed. The Problems of Minorities in Housing was the subject of a talk delivered to the Council of Community Services this week by John P. Milligan, Princeton resident and Assistant State Commissioner of Education in the Division against Discrimination.

Mr. Milligan, whose division exists to receive discrimination complaints, stressed the moral issue involved in discrimination in housing and also argued that a child reared in a "ghetto" cannot grow to become the same type citizen as one reared in the neighborhood of his parents' choice.

Describing the minimum standard of acceptable housing as one room per person with light, heat, ventilation, hot water and bath, Milligan reported that the Division against Discrimination can cite countless cases where Negro families pay up to $100 a month for deplorable, insanitary housing.

The state official also attacked the "prevalent myths" that property values go down when a minority group moves into a restricted area and that members of minority groups do not keep up mortgage payments. He reported that his division's records prove these assertions false.

Social Service Aids Many. A total of 518 Princetonians, members of 218 different families, were helped during 1955 by the Social Service Bureau. This was the report of Mrs. Mabel Reeves, executive secretary, at the bureau's annual meeting.

LIVING

Modern living demands modern wiring! This means enough electricity coming into your house, enough circuits to properly distribute electricity throughout your home, and enough outlets and switches for you to conveniently use all your appliances.

Four out of 5 homes are wired to fit the electric needs of grandma's day. Even many new homes are not adequately wired to meet today's needs for more and more electricity.

Call your electrical contractor today. Ask him to give you an estimate on bringing in a 3-wire 100 ampere service entrance, more circuits (with individual circuits to heavy-duty appliances) and more outlets. And send for the free booklet "How's Your Wiring?" for a brief but informative story of all the things you should know about your home's wiring.

BROTHER, CAN YOU SPARE A DIME? One-tenth of a dollar is all that Princeton High School students need to spend to cast a vote for one of these five glamour girls, and masterminds of the fund-raising scheme hope everyone is stuffing the ballot boxes. When all 10-cent pieces are tallied this week end, with their accompanying votes, the winning young lady will be crowned "Miss March of Dimes," first queen at PHS. All the dimes, of course, go to aid the continuing war against polio. Comely candidates are (left to right, front row) Ruthmarie Perry, Barbara Bowers and Ellnor Coffee and left to right, back row) Barbara Dilley and Sandra Bertrand. (Alan Richards Photo).

TOPICS OF THE TOWN

Mrs. Reeves said marital counseling and case work with individuals and families and referral of children to camps and schools occupied most of the bureau's time last year. In addition, the bureau continued to handle admittance of youngsters to the Princeton Nursery School and again administered the Town Topics Christmas Fund, providing special aid for children as needs arose.

The Family Service Guidance Clinic of the bureau, headed by Dr. J. Kendall Wallis, operated in 1955 with a staff of two psychiatrists and four psychologists as well as several part-time assistants and maintained an average monthly case load of 18-19 patients, including four or five children at all times. "The unflagging interest, enthusiasm and sympathy of the staff" enabled this clinic to contribute much to the mental health of the community, Mrs. Reeves said.

Gordon Griffin, outgoing president of the bureau, lauded the dedicated service of Howard B. Waxwood Jr., who announced his retirement as secretary of the board after eleven years in the position. Mrs. Reeves officially thanked the Red Cross, New Jersey Children's Home Society and Borough and Township Welfare Bureaus for their cooperation.

Better Late Than Never. Twenty-five years following his invention of the velocity microphone, an important discovery which revolutionized the technique of sound pickup, Dr. Harry F. Olson, 71 Palmer Square, was presented with the John Scott Award by the Engineers' Club of Philadelphia. The award, including a copper medal and a $1,000 premium, was given at a dinner marking observance of the 250th anniversary of Benjamin Franklin's birth.

of the acoustical and electro-mechanical research laboratory at the David Sarnoff Research Center here, developed the velocity microphone in 1930, when he was a member of the RCA research staff in New York City. It represented a radical departure from the types then in standard use and established a pattern upon which virtually all subsequent directional microphones have been based.

In announcing the award, the club's advisory committee pointed out that "the usefulness of this device to mankind is dramatically demonstrated by the fact that, in the third decade after its invention, the microphone is still widely used for new and replacement applications, is still the standard of perfection in many fields of use, and has yet to be faced with a competitive unit which shows promise of such usefulness."

John Scott, the Scottish chemist who set up the award in 1816, stipulated that it should be given to "ingenious men and women who make useful inventions." Dr. Olson, one of 500 men and women of various nationalities who have received the coveted prize, joined a group of distinguished recipients including Orville Wright, Thomas A. Edison, Mme. Curie, Dr. Vannevar Bush, Sir Alexander Fleming and Vincent du Vigneud, 1955 Nobel Prize Winner.

Aid for the Rescue Squad. The Princeton Lions Club announced this week it has voted to make one of its projects the donation of a motor boat and articles of rescue equipment to the newly-formed Princeton Rescue Squad.

Another of the Lions Club projects is the Charity Ball to be held February 25 in Miss Fine's School Auditorium. Net proceeds of the dance, which is limited to 500 persons, will be devoted to the club's civic and charitable projects in Princeton.

Schools to Be Studied. "Know Your Valley Road and Stony Brook Schools" will be the discussion topic at the meeting of the Study Group of the League of Women Voters Monday. The meeting, open to interested members of the community, will be held at 8:15 p.m. at the home of Mrs. C. L. Lamar, 192 Loomis Court.

The meeting is a continuation of the study of the public schools of the Princeton Community—this year's local project of the League of Women Voters. Mrs. Frederick H. Nicoll, chairman of the Township Board of Education, will be present to participate in the meeting, and Mrs. Eugene Wigner will present the factual material gathered by the School Study Group of the League.

Triangle Group to Perform. The Triangle Club of Princeton University will provide entertainment at the second annual Mardi Gras ball to be held February 11 in Proctor Hall of the Graduate College under the sponsorship of the Junior Faculty Wives of Princeton University.

Mrs. Ricardo Pastor, entertainment chairman for the dance, announced that the Triangle group will present a half-hour program of songs, dances and skits from its recent production, "Spree de Corps." Brooks Jones of the class of 1956 is president of the Triangle Club, which spent the Christmas holidays presenting "Spree de Corps" in eastern and midwestern cities.

The dance, which has as its theme "Mardi Gras Goes Medieval," will begin at 9 p.m. and —Continued on Page 23

News Of The Theatres

week.

Artists and Models (Jan. 29-Feb. 1) brings Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis back into action with a lavish VistaVision and Technicolor production that includes several musical interludes. M & L have some additional help in the female form of Dorothy Malone, Shirley McLaine, Eva Gabor and Anita Ekberg, while Eddie Mayehoff and George "Foghorn" Wilson add to the comedy.

THE GARDEN

The Deep Blue Sea (Jan. 23-28) has an excellent cast including Vivien Leigh, Kenneth More, Emlyn Williams and Eric Port-man and an elaborate production, but sooner or later you have to deal with the Terence Rattigan screenplay, which at some length deals with the self tortures of a woman who has left her husband, taken a lover, and find herself pretty unhappy about the whole thing. Cinema Scope and color.

Note: There will be a special children's show Saturday afternoon (Jan. 28) at 3 in place of "The Deep Blue Sea." The children's show will consist of five color cartoons and the comedy
"Bonzo Goes to College." Edmund Gwenn, Maureen O'Sullivan and "Bonzo" the chimpanzee are the stars.

COMMUNITY PLAYERS

One-Acters in Rehearsal. The disadvantages of dress rehearsal reviewing were made quite clear by the Princeton Community Players production of three short plays this week.

The program, an interesting one, is on display nightly through Saturday at Murny Theatre on the Princeton University Campus.
Tickets should be obtained nightly through the box office, (tel.
3539).

On view is "The Crime" by John Weigel, "Land of Heart's Desire" by William Butler Yeats, and "The Anniversary" by Chekhov. They are one-act plays of interest, but they need some audience to keep them moving along.

Chekhov's "The Anniversary" is the most obviously entertaining play in the group. It also benefits from the best production level offered by the Players this time.

Yet, "The Anniversary" showed most clearly in dress rehearsal that an audience is needed. Performances ranged from excellent to good from Carlotta Sherwood, Lorin Zissman, Dorothy Thomas,
Kurt Weiser and James Hopkins.
But they deserved laughter to carry off a very easy-going Chekhov frolic. It was the night's best-done piece.

"Land of Heart's Desires" is quite a handsome piece of theatre poetry, but the verse seemed stilted by and large as the Players put it on. Kathy Kelly, as the young sprite who represents freshness and life, carried off her part well (as did Nancy Southgate as the housewife), but the effect was still not strong theatre. Here again, a night and an audience may make a real difference in effectiveness.

"The Crime" was in trouble from the start because of the consciousness of the Adam and Eve overlay on "the plot," which accounts for most of the one-acter in the first place. It was consciousness of the attempt which brought down the play, rather than the work of Al Goodman, Sue Frick and the others.

Still, the play was a real choice for something to balance the Yeats and the Chekhov. The evening as a whole deserves attention, even though its production values are not as high as the Community Players can put them.
Given an audience, one which will make some effort, the show should fit into place as something rewarding, if not inspiring.

SPORTS IN PRINCETON

Seventh Win for PHS. With Trotman and Captain Ammerman again administering the solid one-two punch, PHS picked Bound Brook for its seventh victim of the campaign and triumphed Tuesday afternoon without undue difficulty, 68-55. The Little Tigers found Bound Brook's court to their liking, taking an immediate lead which they never relinquished and holding a healthy 33-24 halftime advantage.

Despite the fact that he was continuously bottled up by two defensesmen, Trotman poured in 23 points for his customary pace-setting position. Ammerman contributed 20 markers, plus 20 vital rebounds, while Albie Wedderman headed the opposition with 19 points.

Bound Brook (now 3-6 for the season) offered no real threat at any time during the contest, so Coach Borzok substituted more freely than usual, foregoing the "iron man" quintet which brought him sweet success in last week's Dunellen game. Even so, Borger climbed out of his temporary slump to hit double figures (12)
once more and Nick Kovalakides, ordinarily a playmaker only,
added eight points.

Back on their familiar home court, the Little Tigers will meet South River at 3 p. m. Friday and Somerville at the same hour next Tuesday as tuneups for their important clash on February 3 against unbeaten Trenton Catholic.

To no one's surprise, Princeton's jayvees continued on their winning way Tuesday, notching their ninth in a row at the expense of Bound Brook's juniors, 57-45. It was the same old story, with Alan Ammerman hitting for 24 points and Larsen chipping in with a helpful 10.

PCD Wins Two of Three. Valley Road School evened its season's record with Princeton Country Day School in basketball by edging the Broadmead quintet, 30-27, Monday afternoon. In other contests, however, the Blue and White traveled to Wilmington, Del., to conquer Tower Hill, 36-19, and rallied to nip Lynwood
School of North Brunswick, 36-35.

Jim Hawkins of Valley Road was the standout player in that school's triumph on its own court.
The count at half-time was 13-12 for the victors. Last week, Country Day had racked up a 43-19 triumph on its floor.

Center Dave Smoyer clicked for 21 points, largely on layups that pierced the Tower Hill zone defense, in the contest at Wilmington. PCD moved out to a 15-9 lead in the first half and had no trouble thereafter.

The Blue and White was down by 33-26 with four minutes left against Lynwood Tuesday afternoon. A three-point play by Smoyer and a pair of foul shots by Chris Shannon helped erase the deficit.

The winning point was scored with 20 seconds left, when Jeh Stuart stole the ball and passed to Smoyer. The latter was fouled and converted the first free throw to provide the margin of victory. Now 5-1 on the season, the school faces Lawrence Junior High on the latter's court this Thursday and Milltown on Monday.

The PCD hockey team was hanked by Lawrenceville, 4-0, last week, dropping to the .500 mark for the year. A trip to play the Choate and Taft School jayvees is scheduled for early February.

YM Basketball Results. The Pioneers gained undisputed possession of first place in the YMCA Adult Basketball League by turning back Westminister, 76-45, this week.

The Pioneers (now 3-0) were paced by Fred Wilson's 17 points.
Westminister fell back into a tie for second place with the Royals, who stopped the Federalists by 59-51. John Broadway tallied 14 points for the Royals, while Bill Adams sank 19 for the losing cause.

In earlier contests, the Jack-posted their first victory of the season as they rolled past the Feds, 71-35. Paul St. George of the victors was high man with 19 points. The All-Stars, paced by Jim Swatberg's 13 markers, edge the Enders, 57-55. Art Staats registered 19 points for the Enders.

Sorry, Wrong Number

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Our complaint about the Princeton telephone company is one shared by many other Princetonians.

Because our old telephone number was given to another family very soon after we got a single-party line last summer people looking us up in the May, 1955, telephone book have had a hard time reaching us for several months. The family assigned our old number has been kind about our situation, but when they're home, but if they have to be away when we are phoned the number listed beside our name, the director of the phone company went to talk with us gets no answer and so decides that we must be out of town. Sometimes this has caused us considerable inconvenience.

It does seem that, if a shortage of phone numbers necessitates immediate re-assignment of one, the phone company could serve its users by putting out an accurate directory more often.

MRS. NANCY SOMMER
207 Riverside,

Ed note.—According to Elmer W. Dietz, manager of New Jersey Bell Telephone Company's Princeton office, this company realizes the problem of the Sommers family and other Princetonians, and is doing its best to solve it. There is a shortage of numbers, which means reassignment, though not for a month after the number has been abandoned. A new switchboard of 1,600 lines, now under construction, is destined to end the shortage by year's end. "Information" knows a party's new number, if the caller thinks to ask for "information"—which out-of-town visitors cannot be expected to do. Bell Telephone reports it cannot prepare or afford more than one new phone book per year.)

Immigration Changes Endorsed

To the Editor of Town Topics:
After detailed study of the proposals for revision of the present immigration law and the proposed amendments to the Refugee Relief Act presented recently by Senator Lehman and Representative Cohen (S. 1206 and H.R. 4530), the Princeton Branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom feels that the Senate Sub-Committee on Immigration should strongly support the bill.

Senator Lehman and Representative Cohen have written a piece of legislation which is completely in accord with the traditional humanitarianism of the United States. In view of the pressing needs of many of the world's peoples to establish themselves in countries other than their own, we feel the United States can and therefore should take the responsibility of offering refuge to the thousands who wish to live in our country.

Secretary

Nursery Registration Open. Applications for registration of children in the Princeton Cooperative Nursery School are now being accepted. The school, which meets at the Rose Cottage on the grounds of Princeton Borough Hall, is open to all children of the area who will be at least three years old but not older than 4.

A full-time professional teacher, Mrs. Edgar Smith, and an associate music teacher, Mrs. Elmer Heller, operate the school, together with the parents themselves. Tuition is kept at a minimum in the school, a non-profit organization. Application blanks and information may be obtained from Mrs. Rowan Boone, 31 Greenhouse Drive. Registration deadline is February 15.

Allen Honored. Willard H. Allen of 44 Nassau Street, state secretary of agriculture since 1937, was presented with a citation for distinguished service to New Jersey farming at the annual state agricultural convention this week.

Mr. Allen, who retires Wednesday because of a heart attack he suffered a year ago, headed the citation (the state's highest honor) in his field) pay the following tribute (among others): "No scroll can encompass the achievements or adequately pay homage to the career and sterling character of so true a gentleman."

Question On The Ballot. Approval of the transfer of $30,000 in surplus funds to the current Littlebrook School building projects will be asked of township voters at the district elections on February 14. The Board of Education pointed out this week that the step should be taken to increase the present $7,000 reserve or contingencies so that ample funds will be on hand to permit satisfactory completion of the new building.

The larger amount will meet any increase in costs which could not appear in the original estimates. The board's statement declares. It further comments that since the original specifications for the Littlebrook building were accepted, "there has been a general rise in the level of building costs and some of the earlier estimates have proved too low."

If approved, the transfer will leave $5,000 in surplus funds, a reserve considered "adequate for the immediate future." The board also reports that, whereas the original $695,000 bond issue included funds for the construction of two additional classrooms at Valley Road School, these have been postponed by conversion of the playground into three temporary classrooms.

The board feels that the additions originally planned can be left in abeyance for some time, but reports that funds left over from the construction at Littlebrook will be available whenever needed. They will be held in reserve for "the next step in school expansion program which is being evolved by constant study and assessment of conditions."

High Rating

The Catholic Church is 88% efficient and methods, according to a survey just completed by the American Institute of Management. The Institute's president is Jackson H. Martindell of 17 Liberty Place.

The rating is unusually high. Mr. Martindell said, since 75% is "considered fine" and only three of some 4,000 institutions and corporations analyzed in the past eight years have achieved a standard as high as 94%.

The survey was undertaken following an interview Mr. Martindell had with Pope Plus XII in 1958, and was made at the Vatican and in several countries throughout the world.

The rating is based on "the degree the church has developed and put into practice administrative procedures that have demonstrated their worth over the centuries." Mr. Martindell, a non-Catholic, said that the Catholic Church "is as efficient as any non-profit organization in the world" and "could teach businessmen lessons."

New "Young Adults" Group. A new series of open discussion meetings for young adults has been started by the First, Second and Witherspoon Presbyterian Churches. Open to "young adults of post-college age to 32," the discussions will be based on Elton Trueblood's book, "The Common Venture of Life."

The series will begin next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the lounge of the Second Church. William Oxtoby, graduate student at Princeton, will open the series. Young people who are interested should notify Miss Moan Crump or Tony Wright, by calling the First Presbyterian Church, 1-0103.

Mr. Occena has been active in trading circles in the Philippines for many years and served as president of the National Trading Corporation in his native country. From 1947 to 1951 he was Philippine purchasing agent in the United States, and also served his government as delegate to the UN Conference on Trade and Employment in Havana in 1947.

He has also been a member of the board of trustees of Silliman University, and served as chairman of the Commission on Education of the Philippine Federation of Evangelical churches.

Two Women's Groups Meet. Mission work in Latin America and among the Indian Americans will be the subjects of two women's church group meetings to be held during the coming week.

At the Second Presbyterian Church, the Women's Guild will meet next Wednesday at 8 p.m. to see a 40-minute film, "Day of Decision." This color-sound film was taken at the Pima and Navajo Reservations in Arizona. Mrs. Walton Van Winkle, secretary for Mission Education of the Women's Guild, is in charge of the program. Hostesses will be the members of Circle Six, led by Mrs. J. Kenneth Boggs.

Lawrenceville Topics

Engineer Named. W. Earl Rochford has been given a temporary appointment as engineer for Lawrence Township. The appointment of Mr. Rochford (by the Township Committee) makes him successor for the time being to his engineering partner William Stratton, who has just resigned the post.

Mr. Rochford is a partner with Mr. Stratton in the Trenton Engineering Company. The latter, township engineer for five years, resigned ten days ago when it was pointed out that he is not a New Jersey-licensed professional engineer. Mr. Stratton also resigned as engineer in Ewing Township, and as a Lawrence planning board member because his firm's private clients brought appeals before the planning group. His father was township engineer for a quarter-century previously.

A condition of Mr. Rochford's appointment is that his firm accept no new private assignments for housing developers in Lawrence Township.

According to Mayor J. Russell Smith, the new temporary engineer will be at work chiefly on tax map problems for the Township.

Teen-Agers Dance. Lawrence students in grades 9 through 12 will again be invited to enjoy a dance this Friday, January 27, from 8.30 to 11.30 at the Eldridge Park School. The dance is one of a series sponsored by the Lawrence Township Patrolmen's Benevolent Association.

The PBA dance is for Lawrence teen-agers and their guests. Members of the association, their wives and students from Princeton, Trenton Central, Trenton Catholic, Cathedral and Lawrence Junior High are taking part in the plans. Walter Dziura will lead the orchestra at Friday's dance.

One of the nicest homes we've ever visited—an authentic Colonial reproduction with three beautiful fireplaces, beamed ceilings and hand-pegged floors. Living room and dining room have lovely paneled walls as has the downstairs bedroom. The kitchen is as modern as can be and so charming. Upstairs are two enormous bedrooms and a second full bath. The architect-owner who designed this home really put time and thought into its planning and perfect setting. $48,500.

A good buy at $27,500. Split-level with three bedrooms. Living room with fireplace, dining area, pine cabinet kitchen, paneled den, laundry room, one full plus two half baths. Attic storage space. ## IF YOU ARE THINKING OF GAS HEAT ---

THEN the INFORMATION Below Is

MUST READING FOR YOU!

Features OF THE NEW

BURNHAM BOILER

WITH TANKLESS HEATER and POWER BURNER!

1. LOW FUEL BILLS FOR HEATING:

This gas boiler is so heavily insulated and so well designed that the heat wasted in the cellar whether burner is on or off (called "standby loss") is hardly more than equivalent loss of a good automatic gas water heater. Its power burner, usually found only in large commercial jobs, introduces secondary air. This gives a hotter flame, thus conserving gas and reducing your fuel bill further.

2. LOW FUEL BILLS FOR YOUR HOT WATER NEEDS:

The same boiler which heats your house, when used with a tankless heater (optional), can provide you with all the hot water you need to wash dishes, clothes, and yourself. The Burnham gas boiler therefore has only one "standby" loss for each of the 12 months of the year. Most gas boilers cannot operate efficiently with tankless heaters — and you must buy two heating instruments to do the job which Burnham does with one. With two heating instruments you get about the same 12 month a year "standby loss" on an automatic water heater, plus a "standby loss" for eight months of the year heating boiler during the heating season.

3. LOW FIRST COSTS:

The Burnham boiler with tankless heater costs less than an equal quality boiler plus a good quality automatic water heater, especially when you add in the extra labor and piping.

4. PLENTY OF HOT WATER:

You can't beat the instantaneous feature, favorite with dealers on oil boilers for many years. And because of the low "standby loss," you can economically install a larger size boiler than would be required merely for heating your house. This is especially convenient where you have two complete bathrooms, or other fixtures making heavy demands on hot water such as dishwashers. The difference in fuel costs if you increase the boiler size by one section is "peanuts" in the opinion of leading independent public utility engineers.

5. DRY CELLAR, WELL PRESERVED BOILER:

Without summer boiler operation with a tankless heater, your boiler may rust from disuse in a damp cellar caused by condensation. And even if you waste fuel by keeping your pilot light on to prevent this, you will not get enough heat to take the dampness out of the cellar—you will not be able to prevent rusting of tools, etc.

6. HANDSOME APPEARANCE, SPACE SAVING SIZE:

See it in our showroom.

7. THE PROOF OF SATISFACTORY PERFORMANCE:

Until this boiler came out many experts doubted whether a satisfactory gas boiler could be mass produced with a tankless heater. This boiler, designed by Tony Donohue — inventor of the modern wet base boiler design — has proved itself in countless installations right in this area. It is fully approved by leading public utilities.
